

As a customer on the Telephone Do Not Call List for Indiana, I am against the CBA's attempt to impose an "established business relationship" exemption before the FCC for banks, credit card companies and long distance carriers we do business with. These entities have been the worst offenders in unsolicited telemarketing calls - thus being on the Do Not Call List with this exception would be pointless.

Sincerely, Amy Hillenburg